Swansea in the Welsh Cup

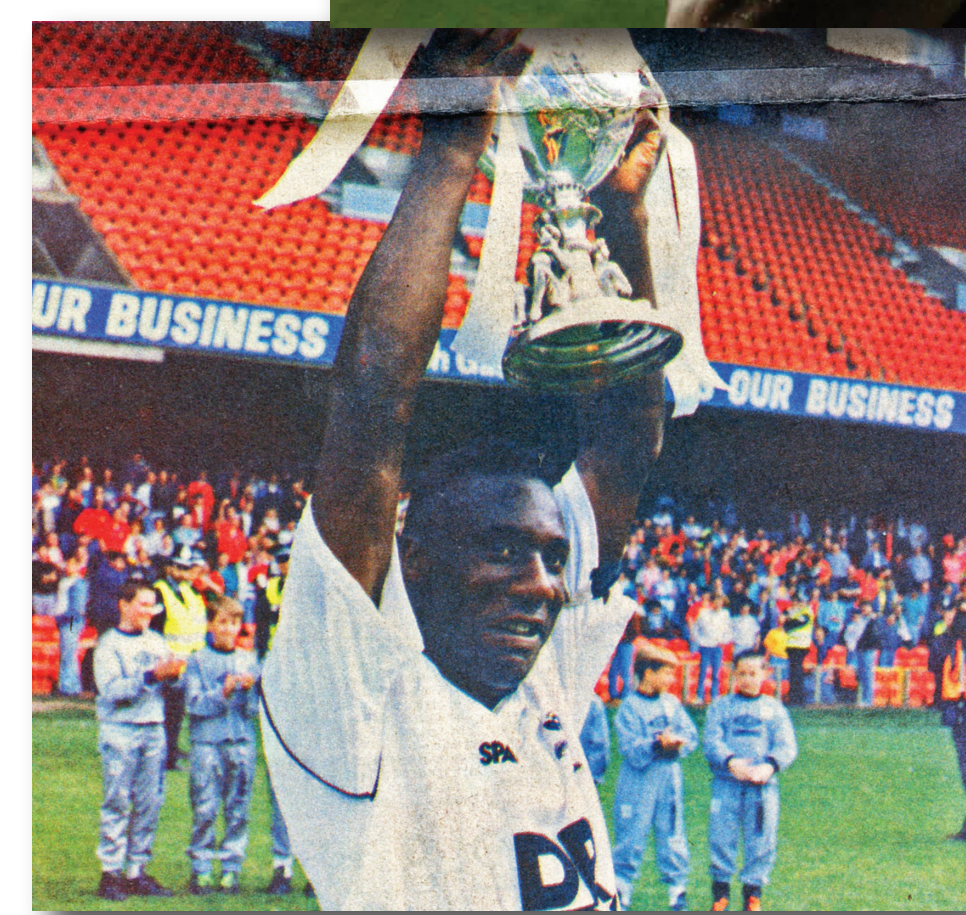

The Football Association of Wales Challenge Cup was instigated in 1877. Originally contested mainly by teams in the north, where football was stronger than rugby, it was not until 1912 that a south Wales team - Cardiff City - won the Cup. Swansea Town won the competition in 1913, their first professional season.

For many years victory in the Cup has brought entry to European competition, currently to the Europa League. Since 1996 only clubs playing in the Welsh football league system have been allowed to enter the Welsh Cup. This rule excluded the six Welsh clubs who played in the English football league system: Swansea City, Cardiff City, Newport County, Wrexham, Colwyn Bay and Merthyr Tydfil/Town.

Swansea's record in the competition is the third-best in Wales, having contested eighteen finals, winning ten. Wrexham is the most successful club, having played in forty-five Welsh Cup finals.
